“powerful learning tools”

Hicommands is a team of spirited young people committed to change the way the world learns by wielding the power of technology and the concepts of instructional design to simplify learning to its essence. In the process, we also make it come alive with rich graphics and audiovisuals that seek to engage the learner and enrich the learning process.

Established in 1996, Hicommands specializes in delivering high quality e-learning solutions to corporate organizations and educational institutions worldwide and helps them with robust, reliable and cost-effective IT solutions to their learning needs.

Vision

- ✓ To be the most innovative company, bringing transformation in tutoring and assessment
- ✓ To create a global student community thro technology, focusing education and beyond

*“across age groups, geographies &
sectors”*

What we do?

- ✓ Hicommands provides e-learning solutions across age groups, geographies and sectors. Our key focus areas are school learning, higher education and corporate learning
- ✓ Our core competence is to break down courseware/learning requirement into independent learning objectives, chunk them further into small learning objects and create a knowledge
- ✓ We adopt learning reinforcement coupled with evaluation techniques and embed them within the learning objects
- ✓ We have developed a range of sturdy, ready-to-deploy products that address the learning needs of key learning groups – school (K12), engineering, mining and banking
- ✓ We also offer our instructional design and content development services to deliver custom solutions to your unique learning requirements
- ✓ Our instructional design experts work with the client to understand and break down the learning requirement. They then develop a direct learning process that the animators, graphic designers and voice over artists translate into real learning modules

e-learning solutions for...

SCHOOL / K12

For K12 learners we have created an unique solution called PRODIGY after extensive research offering powerful learning experience.

For children from Class 1 onwards we have ESWOTS, an award-nominated product with learning objectives in multilingual game based pedagogy model.

HIGHER EDUCATION

The unique patent-pending technology-based deployment model is designed to help rural engineering colleges and institutions with less bandwidth to also adopt e-learning methodology.

We have tied up with CII as a Knowledge Partner to develop multimedia training content to aid skills development including soft skills and other vocational skills.

CORPORATE

Hicommands engages with organizations across diverse industries to understand their learning requirement and help them design and implement effective and innovative training material for their workforce.

Our Learning Management System (LMS) helps them administer the training easily and track the progress and performance of the employees.

Hicommands – bringing technology to education! Hicommands is an ISO9001:2008 certified e-learning company. It is a pioneer in the field, having partnered with several educational institutions across the world for close to a decade. Across India, Malaysia, Sri Lanka and Africa, Hicommands has enriched the lives of millions of students by harnessing the power of technology to suit their learning needs.
